MORE STORIES OF THRIFT

"I have come to learn that the reason why so many men are in the down-and-out class is the lack of thrift."—H. W. Hoot, Secretary Bowers Branch, Y. M. C. A. New York City.

When Assemblyman Peter Swenson came to Iowa thirty-six years ago he had $1.25 in his pocket. Now he owns 1,700 acres of the best land in O'Brien and Sac counties.

"Pete" couldn't speak a word of English when he came to Delaware County, a green, friendless boy from the old country. He had been educated in an agricultural college, where he studied scientific dairying. He worked three months as a hired hand on a farm and was swindled out of his meager pay, but he kept right on smiling and fighting.

Soon he began to get into the commission business, buying eggs and butter for a New York company. He saved, but didn't scrimp. The banks began to know him well and favorably.

Land values grew as Mr. Swenson became yearly a greater authority in scientific butter-making and in the commission business.

He doesn't claim to be smarter than other people because he has made a hundred thousand dollars or so more than the average person makes in a lifetime, but he says he has simply used horse sense in working and saving and looking out for opportunities.

Mrs. William Murphy is what is commonly known as a "grass widow". Her husband left her and their little child—a daughter—many years ago and has never been heard from since.

But Mrs. Murphy did not let any grass grow under her feet if she was a grass widow. She soon made up her mind that she was a real widow, and as there was no "Philip" to help her as there was to help "Enoch Arden's wife" in Tenneyson's poem, she went to work as a laundress and seamstress to support herself and her little girl.

Luckily she was a strong woman and her health remained good. She was thrifty, too, saving a part of every dollar she earned. Before winter came she was always able to fill up her coal bin and lay in a good stock of vegetables, saving a considerable amount by buying early and in quantities. Her savings in the bank grew steadily by her regular deposits and the gradually increasing compound interest credits.

Whenever she had enough saved for a permanent investment she consulted an officer of the bank and took his advice as to a safe use of the money. She was able to give her daughter a good education and the young woman now has a good teaching position and is able to help her mother in keeping up their comfortable home. There is no regret for the husband and father who never appears but real thrift has kept them away and restored what might have been a ruined home.

A banker long an officer of the oldest bank in Minnesota, in telling how four young men developed a successful business, said:

"Their first visit to the bank really established their credit. In that first visit they left their bank books for collection of the amounts due to each of them at their savings bank in the city from which they came."

"These savings-bank books represented their cash capital, but to me they represented much more than that. Their deposits and almost entire absence of withdrawals indicated an established habit of saving on their part and also on the part of their families (for they were all married) for the purpose of carrying out this project which they had planned a long time ahead."

"With such determination for work and willingness to deny themselves in order to save something each month out of their earnings, it was hardly possible for these young men not to succeed."

"They had been highly successful because they acquired saving habits early in life and thereby accumulated their capital before entering business for themselves, while so many are not willing now to practice any self-denial but somehow always expect to begin saving at some future time, with the result that they never acquire the habit or the capital."

"A banker necessarily takes these various things into consideration when asked to grant a line of credit. They mean much to him from the standpoint of the moral risk."

Could there possibly be any clearer guide-board to success than the words of this old banker?

T. D. MacGregor.

Why We Make a Special Effort To Please Young Men

THE average young man—be he just out of college or "high", or well on his way to business success—is just about the keenest style-judge in the world. He's the fellow others follow. He's the one that so often hears the question—"Where did you buy that suit?"

That's why we want to please him, that's why we go to such infinite pains to see that every suit, every overcoat we sell is right up to the second in style, both of quality and fabrics.

Then, too, the average young man is an expert on value—so to get and keep the trade of the young men we have gone the limit in value-giving. And because have given us their heartiest co-operation, we are able to offer you young men more style and better quality at

and more than ever you were able to get before for the same money.

FOR RENT—Four acres and buildings located 1 1-3 mile east of Medina, on Weymouth road. Mrs. Sarah Lance, R. F. D. No. 3 1-5

$1095

In Europe Knight Motored Cars Cost From $4000 to $8000 Each

OR several years the manufacturers have been building Knight type motors.

They are better motors—there is no doubt about it.

Size for size they deliver more power than any other type.

They have flexibility. They deliver their power at low speed without hesitation.

Accelerate, and at speeds far beyond the point where the power of an ordinary motor recedes, Knight Type Motors continue to deliver full power.

And this without vibration. When new these motors are quiet, when old they are quiet almost to the point of absolute silence.

When new they are efficient, when old beyond the limit of endurance of an ordinary motor, they are even more efficient.

But Here, For the First Time, is a Knight Motored Car for Only $1095

f.o.b. Toledo.

In an ordinary motor it is necessary to remove the carbon and grind and reset the valves every few thousand miles.

But the Willys-Knight Motor makes use of any carbon formed, to increase its smoothness and efficiency.

It has noiseless sliding sleeves instead of cams, valves and springs; no valve mechanism to get noisy and wear and require grinding. It is The Ideal Automobile Motor.

Mr. Knight himself says, "The Willys-Knight is the efficiency equal of any of the foreign Knight Motored Cars."

But the price is only $1095. We want you to know and feel the quiet, efficient response of this car under your own touch. See us and arrange for a demonstration of the Willys-Knight. Immediate deliveries.
